COOKING STOVES

Something New in the Way of Cooking Stoves.

CULVER BROTHERS'

ELEVATED OVEN

Farmers' Cooking Stoves.

WE have sold over 4,000 of the above Cooking Stoves in Kentucky in the past 18 months, and about 300 from Frankfort in the last six weeks, and still the demand for them is on the increase. This Stove is made of the best quality of new iron, and is finished in a very superior style.

We give below a few of the many recommendations that we are daily receiving from some of the citizens of the city and county, as to the superior quality of our stoves, and could add a hundred more deemed necessary. These gentlemen are, favorably known to everybody, that we deem it superfluous to add others.
For information apply at Watson's hotel.

Frankfort, Aug. 24, 1867.

I purchased one of Culver Brothers' Elevated Oven Farming Cooking Stoves a short time ago, and can cheerfully recommend it. It can be heated with less wood, and do better baking in a shorter time, than any stove I have ever used before, besides being handsome and convenient.
B. F. MEEK.

We take great pleasure in recommending Culver Brothers' Farming Cook Stove to all who are in want of a good article. "This Stove having no danger to obstruct the draft, it necessarily draws well, and no inside plates to burn out makes it more durable and less liable to injury. Each of us having one in use, we cheerfully recommend it to our neighbors and friends."

The Street Car Bender.

The "Grecian Bend" found its way into a street car a few days ago, and an audacious youth of a poetic turn of mind perpetrated the following concerning it:

She stepped upon the platform—
Her grace I can't forget—
For, Oh! that Grecian bend of hers
Clings to my memory yet.
Her smile was like the sunbeam;
Her bonnet, come, you bet:
But that lovely Grecian bend of hers
Was the heaviest I met.
Her waterfalls were gorgeous,
And all who saw, content
That her grace was never equalled
By the Saratoga bend.
But, alas, for maiden beauty—
Dust will return to dust,
And the most enchanting bender
Is doomed to moth and rust.
(I hate to tell, but must.)
Some whalebone thing that stayed her up
Bent double, and then bust!
She softly sighed, and sweetly smiled,
And then, in accents tender,
As she rubbed her back, she gently said,
"Thank Heaven, I'm off my bender!"

Another Terrible Riot in New Orleans.

About half-past nine o'clock last night a difficulty occurred in a negro club while it was moving down Canal street, near the corner of Baronne. From the thousand reports current, after the occurrence, the cause of the difficulty seems inexplicable. The club was moving from the direction of the river, or the north side of the street. At Baronne street they turned up to the south side. When about one-fourth of them had passed the corner, a report of a pistol was heard, which it is believed was fired by a negro who did not belong to the club, but who had a difficulty with a white youth. At all events this was a signal for a general firing to take place in the negro club, their pistols being pointed in the direction of the south-east corner of Baronne and Canal streets. The firing continued from three to five minutes, and resulted in the death of four negroes we know of. Two others, it was reported, were killed, and their bodies taken off by their friends. A man named Williams, residing on Philip street was badly wounded in the head.

Just as the firing was at its height, the Workingmen's Club, out on parade, came up, and one of the officers was wounded in the leg. The negroes were then running away, and turning around as they went to fire. Several of the workingmen then fired. One of the negro marshals, we hear, was killed. A negro was reported to be killed on Magazine street.

The following is the statement of several eye witnesses:

Oscar Lyle says, I was standing on the neutral ground, on the south side of Canal street, a little west of the intersection of Baronne, quietly looking at the procession pass. Several negro clubs were coming from the direction of the river, on the north side of Canal. At Baronne they turned to the south side, still continuing to march in the direction of the swamp. When about one-fourth of the procession, as I thought had passed, I heard a report which I supposed was the explosion of a lamp. I feel confident it was not a pistol, as the report seemed scarcely as loud as a cap.

The negroes on the upper side of Canal street commenced crying "a shot! a shot!" and there was a very general firing in the negro procession. They seemed pointing their pistols toward the river, from which direction there appeared to me no shots coming from beyond the negro procession.

The shots became so general in and from the procession that I crossed to the lower side of Canal street. There a negro, belonging to that part of the club which was passing on the lower side of Canal street, in running off of Canal knocked me down and injured me slightly. I am satisfied the negroes shot among themselves. When the firing commenced there was not a white club in sight to me.

Mr. Samuel Mullen was present within three minutes from the time that the firing commenced. He saw no white clubs at the time. The workingmen's club came up almost immediately afterward. The firing did not continue when they arrived. That club came up Canal to Camp, and continued up town. The negro lying on the neutral ground opposite Christ Church, was breathing when he came up.

From first to last, I do not think the firing continued three minutes. I ran one square and a half at the time I heard the first shot, it being that distance from my room to the scene of the conflict.

Another gentleman was seated in the Prytania street car, on Canal street, at the time the first shot was fired. He went at a quick walk to the corner of Baronne and Canal, and, arriving there, he found the negroes running, and ever now and then turning around and shooting to wards the rear.

The workingmen's club were at that time on Canal street, between Dryades and Baronne. On reaching there I heard two negroes had attacked two white men on the banquette. The negroes were not members of the procession; some disturbance had occurred, and one of the negroes drew a pistol and fired. This I heard was the first shot, and that it did not take effect.

At half-past 11 o'clock a party of gentlemen from the rear portion of the city called on the Superintendent of Police, and reported that they were fired on by a crowd of negroes at the corner of Common and Franklin streets. At the corner they saw negroes apply torches to a building, and heard the shot fired at them rattling against the house.

There were some trouble between the workingmen and the negro club, before the shooting. Both marched along Poydras street and it was the intention of the workingmen to turn down St. Charles, but the negroes got ahead of them, and passed down first. The carriage of the workingmen was very near the rear of the negro column and the men waved their lamps in the faces of the horses. The workingmen passed on Poydras street, and down Carondelet. It was almost immediately after they reached Canal street that the quarrel took place.

At 12 o'clock a white man covered with blood was found in a dying condition, near the corner of Prytania street. A woman, in front of whose house he lay, said she had heard his groans about half an hour previous to that time, but, being frightened, she did not open her door.

Who Are the Radicals?

The piquant local of the Indianapolis Sentinel says:

Every Indiana statesman who went to Ohio to canvass for negro suffrage is a Radical.

Every repudiator of the Government contracts with its soldiers is a Radical.

Wendell Phillips who burned the Constitution at Farmington is a Radical.

Gen. Banks who wanted to "let the Union slide," is a Radical.

Every advocate of negro-suffrage is a Radical.

The negro governor of Louisiana is a Radical.

Every man who has a negro for a wife is a Radical.

Every repudiator of greenbacks is a Radical.

The men who hung Mrs. Surratt were Radicals.

Parson Brownlow is a Radical.

Jay Cooke is a Radical.

The devil is a Radical.

The first river steamboats were without wheel-houses, and the jealous skippers of the sailing fleet never lost an opportunity of running into them and breaking a wheel. So common was this that it was an unusual event for a steamboat to arrive at the end of her voyage with both wheels in motion. It was the strange appearance of these uncovered wheels that led a farmer to tell his wife he had seen the devil going to Albany in a saw mill.

No. 9—Wm. Rennick, seaman, killed March 15, 1862.

No. 12—Joseph Richer 1st Alabama Volunteer heavy artillery.

No. 22—John Nipp, Co. K. Farris' 2d Tenn. Cavalry.

No. 28—Townsend, M. D., 6th Tenn. Infantry.

No. 31—E. Brudden, 1st Alabama vols, aged 17 years.

No. 32—W. Stephens, died March 17, 1862.

No. 33—W. C. B., died March 24, 1862.

No. 20—J. P.

No. 18—J. E.

No. 16—E. P. Rudden, 1st Louisiana vols, aged 17 years.

No. 44—Sam Gardner.

No. 45—J. W. Brewton, 12th Louisiana vols; Co. K.

No. 58—Alonzo Moor, Travis' Tenn. Regiment.

No. 59—Henry Conn.

No. 60—Jenkins.

No. 61—Price, Arkansas vols.

No. 72—Jim C. Moor.

No. 63—Lieut. Duff, Wheeler's cavalry.

No. 66—Amore, Street's Mississippi Battalion cavalry.

We would respectfully request the editors of our Southern papers to give the list a place in their columns.

A Curiosity of Literature.

It is asserted that the book entitled "Prison Life of Jefferson Davis," and purporting to be the work of Dr. Craven, was written in nine days by the late Gen. C. G. Halpine.

The above paragraph is going the rounds of the press as an item of strange news.

The book, our readers will remember, came out in New York soon after the release of Mr. Davis on bail from his imprisonment at Fortress Monroe. It was the sensation of the day and excited deep interest for the famous prisoner, whose story of life it assumed to give. While it stirred the hearts of the Southern people, of whose lost cause he was the official head, it awakened the curiosity, removed the prejudices and enlisted sympathies of Northern men in behalf of one fallen from high estate, a weary, leech captive, who yet challenged admiration for the equanimity of his bearing and the accomplishments of his mind.

Our readers will be astonished to learn that the statement is

REMOVED!!

CHEAPEST.

Eighteen years ago this month, John Atkinson commenced the publication of this paper, in this city. He continued it for two years, when he sold out to Morey & Marsh. Mr. Marsh was one of the firm for two years, and then left it entirely in the hands of the present proprietor. The fortunes of this office and the paper, has been peculiar and varied. It has always stood by the people and their interests, and will continue to do so, against all encroachments from within and without.

Up to 1860, by perseverance and energy, we had furnished an office for the city and county, which cost us over $3,500—an excellent country printing office, and in April 1861 the "News" commenced its opposition to Lincoln's encroachments and unconstitutional acts, and continued in that path until stopped by Lincoln bayonets.

The war commenced and the office was destroyed, and everything which we possessed under the sun was appropriated to the use of the general government. We had only a few friends in this county, after hostilities began, that dare avow sympathy for us, and one among that number was Mr. W. L. Northrup, Merchant, on the corner of Main and Pike streets. To him we shall always feel grateful.

At the close of our little unpleasantness, we returned to Cincinnati as penniless and poor as a mendicant; but with some assistance from friends, managed to start up again, and we are now pleased to say that our flag is again floating in the breeze.

We ask our readers to assist us to increase the number of our subscribers, as we have enlarged our paper to twenty-eight columns, and otherwise improved its appearance.

The mechanical department is under the skillful management of Mr. E. S. Flanagan, the foreman of the office. Hereafter the "News" will be issued on Thursday morning, which has always been our publication day.

Our Job Office will be fitted up in a few weeks, with the addition of a new Job Press and all the latest styles of Type, Cuts, &c., when we will be able to print, in the most approved style, all kinds of Job Work, such as Bill Heads, Letter Heads, Visiting Cards, Labels, Sale Bills, Posters, &c.
